

Memorable Weddings - Ceremonies with Style & Sensitivity

Special Day FX

Pam Salway - Celebrant

Music is an essential part of your ceremony. It not only means you can have fun selecting your favourite song (how to choose? - there's just so many), but the atmosphere of your wedding will be enhanced ten-fold.

Traditionally, music is played whilst the bride is 'walking down the aisle', but why not have someone play an instrument, or even just play a song which is meaningful for both you and your partner on CD during the ceremony. A short musical interlude, such as this, gives you more ownership of your ceremony.

A little hint though - - - if the music is on CD, make sure the songs are in the order which they will be played during the ceremony. This makes it easier for the CD operator.
